

Murder Mystery

Dinner Party 2026

Claire O'Scuro

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

Claire O'Scuro

Chief Curator of World Cultures

Claire can identify a fifteenth-century glaze at twenty paces and a crooked label from the parking lot. Claire is the intellectual engine behind Treasures of the World: brilliant, exacting, and visibly pained by sloppy labels, bad lighting, and people who call every old object an 'artifact.' She has spent years building the Meridian's scholarly reputation and knows the exhibition better than anyone alive.

- Works alongside Artie Ficial. They usually agree on the collection and argue about the gala.
- Mentors Reed DeLabel, who still sends draft labels for approval.
- Consults Chip Patina and Dr. Art E. Fact when an object needs closer examination.
- Anne E. Dote turns Claire's research into gallery tours. Claire keeps restoring the words Anne simplifies.

ACTING TIPS

Controlled, observant, skeptical, extremely competitive. You do not need to be loud; a raised eyebrow can do half the work.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Claire O'Scuro. I am delighted to meet anyone who knows the difference between provenance and a price tag.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

You discovered that Grant knew the Star Bowl's provenance file contained a major gap and ordered the exhibition to proceed anyway. He threatened to remove you from the show if you raised the issue publicly.

Your other secret

Against board instructions, you commissioned an independent provenance review and hid the preliminary report in the Registrar's Office.

Conversations to start

- Find out whether Dr. Art E. Fact has seen the same gap you found.
- Learn who wrote the anonymous warning note.

If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else. Your printed account may conceal another scandal, even if you are innocent. Stick to it during the hearings.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 A life of resistance, written about a German theologian, shelters another secret.
- 2 Flowers would call this home; tonight paperwork has moved in.
- 3 The cars have an entrance. The secret sits above its door.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

Grant knew the provenance file had a hole in it. He wanted my name under a label pretending otherwise. I commissioned an independent review against the board's instructions. Its fee came out of an exhibition account. You may question my authority to spend it; you will not improve the title by suppressing the question.

IF MURDERER

Grant knew exactly what was missing from the provenance file. He threatened to remove me if I made it public. I commissioned an independent review and charged it to the exhibition. He was preparing to call that financial misconduct while presenting the bowl as immaculate. I had no intention of applauding either performance.

IF INNOCENT

I checked the exposed cradle during installation, well before the mounting alert. Then I took the disputed file into the Registrar's vault. I wanted to compare the export papers without Grant leaning over my shoulder. When I came out, he had moved on to his toast and the exhibition label was still wrong.

IF MURDERER

I checked the cradle before the alert, then worked at the Registrar's outer desk. I made another pass by the gallery around 6:43. The curtain was down; I looked at the label copy on the desk instead. I was deciding which sentence I could defend when Grant called me insubordinate.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

The file I carried into the vault had a white correction tab sticking out of the cover. I stayed inside until the custodian let me out at 6:45. I concealed the independent review behind the 1988 manifest. That was deliberate. An exhibition account should not pay for vanity, including a donor's.

IF MURDERER

I put the white correction tab in the provenance file at the outer desk and substituted a cautious label. The independent review is behind the 1988 manifest. I charged its fee to the exhibition without board consent. Grant wanted a clean public record; he was about to receive a substantially less flattering one.

The sixteen discoveries and five reports remain at the Evidence Table.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I used exhibition money without authorization and hid the resulting report. The vault record and interior camera cover my whole stay while Grant's glass was exposed. My correction tab identifies the file I described. I could have ended the exhibition by publishing that report. I did not end his life.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

The review was real. My shelter in the Registrar's Office was useful fiction: I stayed at the outer desk, then went to Grant's glass. I stole the reference toxin, used museum linen to coat the empty coupe and returned to the paperwork. I wanted my research to survive him. I made certain that it would.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
