INTRODUCTIONS

Vincent Van Faux

Celebrated Contemporary Painter

Vincent believes even his shopping lists belong in a documentary. He is truly a genius of the visual arts. Vincent became famous young and has been trying ever since to convince people that this is not the same thing as becoming famous accidentally.

- Went to art school with Dada DiCapo. Dada enjoys reminding Vincent of this in front of collectors.
- Hugh Bidder wants to represent Vincent. Vincent has yet to approve Hugh's percentage.
- Penny Pincher keeps showing Vincent photos of paintings and asking what they are worth. He's not interested.
- Al Baster compares their commissions by weight. Vincent would prefer to discuss the price.

ACTING TIPS

Warm, competitive, mercurial, self-aware enough to joke about his ego but not enough to lose it.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Vincent Van Faux. My new work is here tonight. My early work is also here, despite several very expensive objections.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant owned an embarrassing student painting you have spent years trying to buy back. He planned to display it tonight beside your celebrated recent work as a joke about 'humble beginnings.'

Your other secret

You have secretly used buyers to acquire several of your own early paintings so you could remove them from circulation. The art world would find that both vain and market-manipulative.

Conversations to start

- Find out whether Ella Gance knows you were behind the anonymous buybacks.
- Persuade Claire O'Scuro that the student painting should not be displayed.

If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else. Your printed account may conceal another scandal, even if you are innocent. Stick to it during the hearings.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 Find the biography of the man who chose conscience over obedience. Its pages have company.
- 2 Look inside the vessel that usually gives cut flowers a place to stand.
- 3 Find the green light, then examine the space nearby.

IF INNOCENT

Grant was displaying my student painting beside my mature work. I have been buying the early disasters through intermediaries. Vanity costs more when it has provenance. During the live portrait interview, 6:39 to 6:45, I painted a mustache on my younger self. If he insisted on exhibiting the boy, the boy deserved a disguise.

IF MURDERER

Grant intended to exhibit the student painting I have spent years buying back. Yes, I purchase my early work through intermediaries. There are collectors whose taste I prefer to supervise. I did a brief portrait interview, then left the student canvas on its easel. Grant was about to turn it into the evening's most expensive joke.

ACT II: OPPORTUNITY

Vincent Van Faux

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I inspected the bowl's glaze early, then worked at the interview easel. After the broadcast I went to the gallery to see which label Grant had approved. He had retained 'Early student work.' I considered something shorter. The producer kept my brushes until I stopped proposing improvements to the lettering.

IF MURDERER

I left the interview easel and went to the gallery. The student label was still waiting for approval. I took it to the outer worktable and considered whether Grant would lend me my own painting. I wished to remove it before he began explaining how generous he was. The red paint was still wet.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

There is red paint on my cuff and museum linen in my case. I wiped the palette with it. The paint is ordinary oil color, which Chip will regard as a very incomplete description. I also removed the loan label for my student painting. I wanted that canvas outside the exhibition and preferably outside the country.

IF MURDERER

I kept museum linen in my case and used the setup key to fetch a clean palette. The red mark on my cuff came from the student canvas. I removed its loan label and took it with me. Grant called this tampering with his collection. He had acquired the painting; the humiliation remained mine.

The sixteen discoveries and five reports remain at the Evidence Table.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I manipulated the market for my own embarrassing work. I also stole a label. But the uncut live portrait puts me at the easel while the coupe was exposed. The mustache develops stroke by stroke on camera. I wished Grant would stop talking about my youth. Someone else found a permanent way to stop him.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I left the easel before the long take. With the setup key I collected the toxin, then wiped it inside Grant's coupe using the linen in my case. He had promised to make a joke of my career. I made my last appeal at the salon, knowing he would soon be unable to tell that joke.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
