

Murder Mystery

Dinner Party 2026

Sue Venir

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

INTRODUCTIONS

Sue Venir

Cultural Property Attorney

Sue corrects the fine print on dinner menus. Sue is the lawyer museums call when an object has three owners, four countries, six contradictory export documents, and one increasingly angry newspaper.

- Works with Artie Ficial and Monet Bags on museum contracts.
- Has argued opposite sides of restitution cases with Mona Lott. They're ruthless opponents but still besties.
- Dr. Art E. Fact supplies expert opinions for Sue's cases. Sue usually asks for a shorter version.

ACTING TIPS

A lawyer with sass: precise, formidable, patient, amused by sloppy certainty. Ask pointed questions and answer only the question actually asked.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Sue Venir. Lovely to meet you. Nothing I say over dinner constitutes legal advice, although I will be keeping notes.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

You wrote a private legal memorandum concluding that the Star Bowl's acquisition was too risky to defend confidently. Grant forced you to replace it with a softer opinion and planned to cite your name during the announcement.

Your other secret

Both versions of the memo still exist. You kept the original instead of destroying it, which could expose you to professional embarrassment and Grant to serious scrutiny.

Conversations to start

- Learn whether Mona Lott has obtained a copy of your original memo.
- Keep Dr. Art E. Fact from publicly speculating about your legal advice.

If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else. Your printed account may conceal another scandal, even if you are innocent. Stick to it during the hearings.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 Find a chair that a magnet might fancy. Look beneath its seat.
- 2 Open the cupboard where ordinary things have been given a private gallery.
- 3 Look above the large door that admits the household vehicles.

STOP! Do not turn the page yet.
Wait for the host to announce the next round.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I supplied the softer opinion Grant demanded. I also retained my original memorandum. It says permanent possession does not cure disputed title. He intended to quote my convenient version and ignore the original. Both bear my signature. I am perfectly capable of explaining a compromised opinion without consenting to a fraudulent announcement.

IF MURDERER

Grant forced a softer opinion out of me and planned to cite it publicly. I kept the original because professional embarrassment improves when it has witnesses. He called the first version unnecessarily cautious. He would have found the second version equally cautious if his name had appeared on the liability rather than the donor plaque.

ACT II: OPPORTUNITY

Sue Venir

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I spent 6:39 to 6:45 on the fixed legal-office line dictating clause nine to outside counsel. We were putting the title objection back into the agreement. I asked them to countersign the original. Grant had already threatened my reputation; I preferred a second signature before he began distributing the blame.

IF MURDERER

I left a message for outside counsel and returned to the gallery desk to edit clause nine. Both legal opinions were in my folder. Grant expected a signature before his toast; I was deciding which objection he would have to read beneath it. Accuracy becomes particularly useful when the donor asks one to hurry.

Sue Venir

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

Both opinions bear my signature. I cleaned the coffee ring from the original, then restored its title objection in clause nine. The margin handwriting is mine. It describes an ownership defect. The compromise draft could embarrass my firm; destroying the original would have made that embarrassment deserve rather more severe language.

IF MURDERER

Both opinions bear my signature, and I crossed out Grant's preferred title wording in the later agreement. I had promised him a final version before the toast. The compromise draft could damage my firm; the original could damage his claim. I retained them both. He was offering to make that an expensive decision.

The sixteen discoveries and five reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I signed the diluted opinion and kept the original. The countersigned clause-nine conference places me at the fixed legal-office microphone through the contamination interval. I will defend the original in public now. The quiet compromise was my failure. The poisoning was not.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

Outside counsel received my message, not six minutes of my presence. I took the preparation key, the reference toxin and the cloth to Grant's coupe. I meant to stop him announcing a title I knew was defective under my name. I have spent the evening choosing accurate words for an act I cannot defend.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
