Dinner Party 2026

Dr. Art E. Fact

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

INTRODUCTIONS

Dr. Art E. Fact

Professor of Art History & Provenance Scholar

Art has never met a footnote he could not lengthen. Art has built a career tracing the lives of objects through wars, estates, auctions, private collections, and suspicious gaps in paperwork.

- Supervises Reed DeLabel's doctoral research and sends drafts back covered in notes.
- Secretly infatuated with the enigmatic energy of Dada DiCapo. Will she notice him?
- Trusts only Chip Patina to say when the physical evidence contradicts Art's theory.

ACTING TIPS

Intense, professorial, curious, occasionally pedantic, sincerely excited by evidence.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Dr. Art E. Fact. I bring decades of scholarship and a footnote for almost every possible dinner conversation. Looking forward to intellectual discussions tonight!

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant suppressed your research showing that two objects in his collection passed through a dealer linked to questionable wartime sales. He threatened to release correspondence suggesting you had overstated another provenance claim if you challenged him publicly.

Your other secret

One celebrated article of yours does contain an inference you stated too confidently. The main thesis still stands, but the mistake would be humiliating.

Conversations to start

- Ask Reed DeLabel what he has discovered in the accession records.
- Determine whether Claire O'Scuro commissioned outside provenance research.

If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else. Your printed account may conceal another scandal, even if you are innocent. Stick to it during the hearings.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 Your reflection cannot look up far enough to see what rests on the mirror.
- 2 Look behind a painting rather than into its scenery.
- 3 The household's Bible has received a very unofficial insert.

Wait for the host to announce the next round.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

Grant threatened to release a letter showing I overstated a provenance inference. I did overstate it. The broader thesis survives, but one cannot ask a footnote to carry an entire reputation. He wanted my wartime-sales research suppressed in return for silence. I would rather correct a sentence than pretend the archive never existed.

IF MURDERER

I overstated an inference in my article. Grant obtained the correspondence and offered to keep it private if I abandoned the wartime-sales research. The error is embarrassing. His bargain was worse. I had spent years finding the documents he intended to reduce to a troublesome misunderstanding.

IF INNOCENT

I examined the inscription before the alcove closed, then went to the library broadcast desk. I had promised a short research update. It became a correction. My moderator tried to stop me at the advertised length, which was a hopeful reading of the word 'short.' I remained until the transmission ended.

IF MURDERER

I recorded the research update in the library earlier and sent it for broadcast. Before the toast I compared the manifest and article at the gallery table. I wanted the transfer dates beside each other when Grant challenged the finding. He had developed a selective relationship with chronology.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I read my erratum live. The library archive covers 6:39 to 6:45 and shows the article beside the manifest in my hands. I had described an inference as a fact. Correcting that sentence does not supply the missing export papers, and it does not remove the dealer from the shipping chain.

IF MURDERER

I prepared an erratum for the recorded update. The article and manifest were in my folder, with a marked passage Grant wanted removed from the next lecture. He had confused a correction to my inference with withdrawal of the whole finding. I was quite prepared to explain the difference in public.

The sixteen discoveries and five reports remain at the Evidence Table.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

The article needed correction, and I made it publicly. The continuous library transmission keeps me at its fixed desk while Grant's glass was open. The 1988 manifest deserves an inquiry regardless of my embarrassment. I concealed an overstatement; I did not poison the man who tried to make it my price for silence.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

The library update was a recording. While it played, I took the conservation sample and wiped Grant's empty coupe with the cloth from my archive folder. He was going to bury years of research under my one bad sentence. I chose to silence him instead. There is no scholarly qualification that makes that choice smaller.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
