

Murder Mystery

Dinner Party 2026

Reed DeLabel

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

INTRODUCTIONS

Reed DeLabel

Doctoral Fellow in Art History

Reed reads every label aloud, including the exit sign. Reed is the youngest scholar attached to the exhibition and has been trying very hard to behave like this is normal.

- Dr. Art E. Fact supervises Reed's doctorate and rarely returns a clean draft.
- Gets informal guidance from Claire O'Scuro on exhibition labels and curatorial work.
- Checks dates and catalog references for Paige Turner. Reed saves any article that includes a correction.
- Anne E. Dote coaches Reed through gallery tours. She keeps crossing footnotes out of the children's handouts.

ACTING TIPS

Eager, cerebral, anxious in a useful way, unexpectedly bold when the evidence is on your side.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Reed DeLabel. I am the graduate fellow. I know where the footnotes go and, more dangerously, where they are missing.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

You found an archival document that contradicted the Star Bowl label. Grant told your department your fellowship could disappear if you pushed it.

Your other secret

You have not yet told Art that your discovery also undermines one sentence in his published research.

Conversations to start

- Ask Claire O'Scuro whether she is comfortable with the Star Bowl label.
- Ask Dr. Art E. Fact how a junior researcher should challenge a donor's version of history.

If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else. Your printed account may conceal another scandal, even if you are innocent. Stick to it during the hearings.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 Four legs and a metallic seat guard a secret from below.
- 2 Behind a cupboard's closed doors, one item has no domestic purpose.
- 3 Seek the sacred book with two testaments. Tonight its pages shelter evidence.

STOP! Do not turn the page yet.
Wait for the host to announce the next round.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

Grant threatened my fellowship over the routing document. It also undermines one sentence in Art's article, which I had not told him. Before the toast I locked myself in the research cage with my green index tabs, 6:39 to 6:45. I was preparing a correction that could lose me both funding and a supervisor.

IF MURDERER

The archive contradicts the label and one sentence in Art's research. Grant threatened my fellowship if I pursued it. I had not told Art about the second problem. I made copies at the outer desk because I did not trust Grant to leave the originals alone. My funding depended on someone whose story I was correcting.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I examined the bowl early and then worked through the routing file. The reference cage has no comfortable chair. That may be deliberate; fellows grow expensive if allowed to settle. I left with two copies, one for the exhibition and one for Art. I was more frightened of the second conversation.

IF MURDERER

I examined the bowl early and compared my notes at the gallery table before the toast. I had two copies of the routing file and no tactful way to present either. Grant had seen the exhibition correction already. Art had not seen the one concerning his article. I kept revising the first sentence.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I copied restricted pages and hid them in my fellowship notebook. The green tabs divide the shipping chain from the published inference. Art had not seen the second section. If you combine them, keep the dates with the correct transfer. Grant wanted the notebook surrendered before the announcement, and I had quietly made a second copy.

IF MURDERER

My notebook contains restricted pages copied without permission. The green tabs divide the shipping chain from Art's inference. Grant demanded the notebook before his speech. I kept it in my bag and said the originals were elsewhere. I had made a second copy. I was preparing to lose my funding without losing the document.

The sixteen discoveries and five reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I concealed a correction from my supervisor and copied pages I should have requested properly. The research-cage log and interior film keep me with the green-tab file while the coupe was exposed. I feared losing the fellowship. I intend to present the research anyway. I did not poison its principal obstacle.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I worked at the outer table, with no research-cage stay to account for me. I took the stolen sample on the sleeve cloth and wiped Grant's empty coupe. He could erase my fellowship with a phone call. I made sure he would never place it. The archival discovery is real; the justification I built around it is mine.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
