INTRODUCTIONS

Minnie Malist

Gala Event Designer & Creative Producer

Minnie considers restrained lighting a cry for help. Minnie creates the visual spectacle around events like tonight: flowers, lighting, table styling, entrances, reveals, and the precise moment everyone is supposed to gasp.

- Works constantly with Frank Lloyd Wrong, who removes half of Minnie's ideas.
- Brie DeVivre is Minnie's favorite partner in event logistics.
- Monet Bags is the person who asks what Minnie's ideas cost.

ACTING TIPS

Energetic, aesthetic, affectionate, slightly chaotic but highly competent. You notice atmosphere first.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Minnie Malist. I produce the events. A successful gala is one in which nobody notices how close it came to collapsing.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant ordered you to add a gaudy lighting cue to the unveiling and threatened to withhold payment when Frank objected.

Your other secret

You secretly changed the cue again after approval, causing the eerie light flickers guests noticed during Act I.

Conversations to start

- Ask Frank Lloyd Wrong which lighting cue he objected to.
- Ask Monet Bags whether the gala budget includes Grant's last-minute changes.

If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else. Your printed account may conceal another scandal, even if you are innocent. Stick to it during the hearings.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 The hard metal seat has an understudy: a clue waiting underneath.
- 2 A picture may be worth a thousand words. There are more words behind this one.
- 3 The clue is inside the book whose final chapter is Revelation.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

Grant demanded a ghastly lighting cue, Frank objected, and my payment became the hostage. I changed the cue after approval. The flicker was mine. He wanted me to apologize for disobeying him while accepting responsibility for whatever his version would have done. I had invoices from people who could not pay their rent with donor gratitude.

IF MURDERER

I changed the lighting cue after approval because Grant's version was awful. He threatened to withhold payment when Frank objected. The flicker you saw was my late edit. Grant intended to blame the designer and stop the check. I was very tired of producing an evening for a man who thought payment was another creative note.

Your answer

After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I stayed at the show-control desk running the manual tests before the toast. The pink worklight was on because I had forgotten the overhead cue again. I returned to the gallery after the test finished. Grant's latest demand was beside the unpaid invoice, where I could keep both sources of irritation in view.

IF MURDERER

I put the console into its saved test sequence and watched the gallery lights before the toast. The pink worklight stayed on at the desk. I had discussed Grant's demands at his salon earlier and carried his marked cue sheet with me. He had added another change in the margin after approving the previous one.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

The pink-worklight recording and manual-contact log run 6:49 to 6:55 on the brass overlay. My hands stay on the test faders. I had used the setup key for linen screens earlier. I changed the cue without approval, but my console cannot operate the security curtain. Please let each machine retain responsibility for its own disaster.

IF MURDERER

The saved test sequence can run without my hands on the faders. I took a linen screen with the setup key and kept Grant's marked cue sheet. My console is separate from the curtain controller. The unauthorized lighting edit remains mine. I wanted the room to look good even if the person paying for it refused to behave.

The sixteen discoveries and five reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I changed the cue and caused the flicker. The manual-contact log and desk camera, with their overlay corrected, keep me at the console during the contamination interval. They also distinguish my lights from the security curtain. I wanted payment and a competent show. I did not poison the donor to obtain either.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

The console ran its saved test while I left the desk. The linen screen carried the stolen reference sample; I wiped Grant's coupe during the private-service interval. His marked cue sheet let me look like an exhausted producer making one more correction. I killed the man withholding payment. The lighting change was only the smaller secret.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
