Tips for a Successful Dinner

What's at Stake

Broke a promise to a school group once before and cannot bear being the adult who disappoints them again.

Best Practices

- Everyone, including you, has something to hide, something at stake. But only one guest tonight is guilty of murder.
- Mingle using the relationships on your introduction page. Feel free to improvise in conversations.
- If a named guest is absent, simply speak to someone else. Not everyone made it to the gala tonight.
- By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don’t share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.
- When asked to read from this packet, please read the appropriate box as written. Feel free to add your own flair to stay in character.
- Don't let anyone else see what's in your packet!

The Game is Afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

1 The mirror has a secret that never appears in its reflection. Look above the glass.

2 The artwork is innocent; something behind it deserves questioning.

3 A Bible contains a small addition that is not part of scripture.

Your Answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I'd promised the school places before the grant was approved. Grant wanted their tour replaced by a patron preview. I put the school program back in the handout. He asked who authorized it. Fair question. I've stood in front of children before and told them a visit was canceled. I wasn't doing it again while a donor explained how generous he was being.

IF MURDERER

I'd promised school places before the grant was approved. Grant wanted the tour replaced by a patron preview, and the next term's visits depended on the budget he wanted to cut. I put our program back. He asked whose permission I used. Nobody's. Scraping together money for one visit wouldn't keep the next bus coming. I've told children a promised visit was canceled before. He could make me stand in front of them and do it again.

Your Answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I replaced the education handout and led the short tour to Frank's closed alcove. Turned them around. Reed's footnotes stayed; Grant's language went. My version admitted the school visit still needed money. I was making my promise the museum's problem in public. Claire, I know that wasn't an approved plan. Neither was turning every ordinary visit into a privilege someone wealthy had to grant us.

IF MURDERER

I replaced the education handout and led the short tour. Frank got an earful over the closed alcove. I also took the handout to Grant's private place during the reception. His glass was waiting. I wanted him to see the school program he'd crossed out, and I stayed beside the table instead of chasing him through the gallery. Claire, I know the gala route wasn't mine to change. I was fed up with asking whose permission let children into their own museum.

Vincent Van Faux / Elon Mosaic / Penny Pincher

What do you know about the bottle, pictures, or technology you brought tonight?

Frank Lloyd Wrong / Elle Loominate / Al Baster / Anne E. Dote

Could the work or the tour have hidden what happened?

Paige Turner / Mona Lott / Robin Banks / Justin Tyme

What part of the story have your sources left out?

Dada DiCapo / Barb Dwyer / Brie DeVivre / Cary Crates

What did people actually see, hear, and drink?

Your Answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

> We turned back from the closed alcove to the public cases. The assistant docent was with us. We never entered Grant's room. The school places will use workshop money, which means canceling the paid weekend class. I'll have to tell those people. The donor didn't save the children's visit.

IF MURDERER

> The group went through Grant's room. His prepared place was a tour stop. They were with me when I approached it; that was my only visit. Closing the alcove changed our entrance, not the whole route. Ask the docent where the group went. I wasn't there on my own.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The Last Word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I did not kill Grant. The marked route and assistant docent place our turnback at the public cases. The private room was no tour stop. I used workshop money for a school promise I had no authority to make. The displaced guests deserve their explanation. I will give it. I would rather have them angry at me than teach the children that somebody else always decides whether they belong here.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I killed Grant. The approved tour did not include his private room. I used poison from the preview bottle at his unattended place, without my tour group. I later put that visit inside the tour in my account. The marked route excludes the room, and the assistant docent recorded the actual turnback to the public cases. I borrowed a group that had never been beside that glass. Funding the school places did not erase the promise Grant could expose. I promised children a place in this museum. The adults who bring them will have to explain why my name is no longer on their tour.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
