Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

> Red paper with a silver back. I put it across the stopper. My sleeve still has some. I checked from the front and missed the split behind it. I changed the insurance date too. Claire, give me back the workbench key. You can stand beside me while I pack, if you must. Every person who passes one of those strips around leaves me another thing to account for. I was already answering to Grant for what my hands had done. Now I'm answering to all of you.

IF MURDERER

> My closure band was red woven tape. Foil-backed paper was packaging stock. The sleeve and technician's photograph concerned the band work. They weren't an inventory of every red scrap in the museum. The insurance date is wrong. I changed it. I can answer that question. I will not identify somebody else's packaging as a material I used.
