INTRODUCTIONS

Minnie Malist

Gala Event Designer & Creative Producer

Minnie considers restrained lighting a cry for help. Minnie creates the visual spectacle around events like tonight: flowers, lighting, table styling, entrances, reveals, and the precise moment everyone is supposed to gasp.

- Works constantly with Frank Lloyd Wrong, who removes half of Minnie's ideas.
- Brie DeVivre is Minnie's favorite partner in event logistics.
- Monet Bags is the person who asks what Minnie's ideas cost.

ACTING TIPS

Energetic, aesthetic, affectionate, slightly chaotic but highly competent. You notice atmosphere first.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Minnie Malist. I produce the events. A successful gala is one in which nobody notices how close it came to collapsing.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant ordered you to add a gaudy lighting cue to the unveiling and threatened to withhold payment when Frank objected.

Your other secret

You removed the donor lettering and hid an unauthorized blackout inside the naming sequence. The safety override stopped that sequence; later flickers came from the electrician's test. You do not want the canceled intentional interruption mistaken for an approved cue.

Conversations to start

- Ask Frank Lloyd Wrong which lighting cue he objected to.
- Ask Monet Bags whether the gala budget includes Grant's last-minute changes.

One attending guest committed the murder alone. Follow your printed account during the hearings. If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 The hard metal seat has an understudy: a clue waiting underneath.
- 2 A picture may be worth a thousand words. There are more words behind this one.
- 3 The clue is inside the book whose final chapter is Revelation.

IF INNOCENT

I changed the approved lighting cue. Grant restored the donor lettering and threatened payment when I objected. I then prepared a blackout he had not authorized. It was intended to interrupt the naming announcement. The operator did not know what I had hidden in that sequence.

IF MURDERER

I changed the approved lighting cue. Grant restored the donor lettering and threatened payment when I objected. I then prepared a blackout he had not authorized. It was intended to interrupt the naming announcement. I wanted his words cut off in front of the people financing them.

IF INNOCENT

I prepared a blackout for the naming announcement after Grant restored the donor lettering I had removed. I hid that cue inside the reduced lighting sequence. The performance team also had red metallic paper from the shared supplies for its closing effect. Then the real mounting alert forced the safety override. The electrician stopped the revised sequence. I had planned to interrupt Grant in front of the donors; I had not asked the operator to announce that plan.

IF INNOCENT

The console log records the safety override before my reduced sequence was tested. The electrician retained my revised cue sheet. The change I made removed the donor lettering and cut the load; it did not disable the museum security system. I wanted Grant's name off the wall, and I had changed the program without permission. The later flickers came from the electrician's test; the intended blackout never ran. Barb's camera work was on a separate system. The inventory also lists red foil-backed confetti offcuts in my cue folder. The electrician and manager retained the unused effect materials.

IF MURDERER

The override stopped my hidden blackout. I then reset Grant's place for the donor photograph, turning his empty glass clear of the centerpiece. My cue-sheet folder stayed under my arm. The inventory records a foil-backed red scrap caught in that folder; I carried it on the preparation walkthrough too. I was still being paid to make his evening look immaculate.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I hid an unauthorized blackout in the naming sequence. The safety override stopped it; the later flickers came from the electrician's test. The unused confetti and revised cue sheet survive. I did not poison Grant. I will deliver the actual job log, including the cue I intended to run, instead of passing the whole interruption off as a safety fault.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I took cyanide during the preparation walkthrough and poisoned Grant's uncovered glass in the salon. Resetting the place for its photograph gave me a reason to handle it. A fragment of the bottle's custody band caught in my cue-sheet folder; another was found inside the glass. The inventory and laboratory comparison linked the material, and my account placed the folder at both locations. The safety override stopped the blackout I had hidden. It did not stop me. He wanted his name restored and threatened my payment. I made a dispute about the program end in murder.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
