INTRODUCTIONS

Monet Bags

Chief Financial Officer of the Meridian Museum

Monet can locate a missing cent faster than anyone can locate the missing antiquity. Monet can tell you exactly how much tonight's floral installation cost, which donor paid for it, and which line item everyone is pretending it came from.

- Works with Artie Ficial and Sue Venir on museum budgets and donor agreements.
- Checks Brie DeVivre's catering bills. Brie needs to explain every extra charge.
- Elon Mosaic keeps suggesting new museum technology. Monet keeps asking who will pay for it.

ACTING TIPS

Quick, pragmatic, wry, unimpressed by grandeur for grandeur's sake. You notice costs other people pretend not to see. You're not afraid to spend money as long as it's a wise investment.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Monet Bags. I'm the CFO and I oversee the numbers. Please enjoy the gala, but know that any additional expenditures will not be reimbursed without a receipt.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant demanded that you disguise several gala and naming-wing expenses inside restricted museum funds until his promised donation cleared. When you resisted, he threatened to blame the bookkeeping on you.

Your other secret

You temporarily moved money between internal accounts to cover a cash-flow shortfall, intending to reverse it after the gala. It was technically unauthorized and Grant discovered it.

Conversations to start

- Find out whether Sue Venir has seen Grant's draft funding agreement.
- Keep Artie Ficial from learning about the temporary transfer unless absolutely necessary.

One attending guest committed the murder alone. Follow your printed account during the hearings. If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 The object that borrows your face has something above its reflection.
- 2 The painted world draws your gaze. The clue prefers its hidden reverse.
- 3 A soft cushion in the color of a clear sky conceals something behind it.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

During the walkthrough I inspected the preparation cupboard through the east visitor entrance. I wanted to see what the conservation budget had bought. The transfer was unauthorized. I moved restricted money to keep payroll from bouncing and intended to reverse it after the donation. Grant wanted his naming-wing expenses hidden there too. The difference is several salaries versus a marble likeness of a man who already owned mirrors.

IF MURDERER

During the walkthrough I inspected the preparation cupboard through the east visitor entrance. I wanted to see what the conservation budget had bought. My unauthorized transfer kept payroll alive. Grant discovered it and demanded that I conceal his expenses in the same accounts. If I refused, he would blame the whole mess on me. Apparently the museum's finance department existed to provide him with a culprit and a calculator.

Your answer

After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I took the disputed expense schedule to Grant. His steward stood beside him holding the blue-wrapped glass. Grant circled my refusal so hard his pen tore the schedule. The museum logo ran across the package seam without a break; it stayed that way until I left. I went once to that service station before the toast, and that was the visit.

IF MURDERER

I took the disputed expense schedule to the private service station. Grant circled my refusal beside the glass while the steward was away. Blue material was under the glass. He wanted his marble-wing expenses added to the same accounts I had abused for payroll. Two wrongs apparently qualify for a donor plaque.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

Grant's circles are on the schedule. The torn paper is mine; the blue package remained with the steward. My unauthorized transfer covered salaries. His proposed addition covered a marble likeness of himself. He wanted both charged to the same account.

IF MURDERER

The blue material was a reusable cloth placemat, not blue plastic wrapping. Its museum logo was stitched. The glass above it was open. My unauthorized transfer covered salaries. Grant's proposed addition covered a likeness of himself.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I will reverse the transfer and report it. It was unauthorized bookkeeping, and Grant's proposed expenses made the pressure worse. My only approach to his service station ended with the glass's sealed blue wrapping still intact. I could argue over the schedule beside a guarded package. I could not contaminate the interior through that sealed wrapping.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I removed cyanide during the walkthrough and carried it in the pen cloth. While the glass was uncovered I laid the expense schedule beside Grant's glass and coated the inside while he inspected the figures. The staff poured from a clean pitcher into my contaminated glass. I balanced nothing. I murdered the man threatening to make me answer for his accounts.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
