INTRODUCTIONS

Brie DeVivre

Head Caterer & Hospitality Director

Brie has planned a cheese course more carefully than most people plan a wedding. Brie runs high-end events with the serene expression of a person mentally tracking forty-seven moving parts.

- Goes over catering costs with Monet Bags. Brie keeps the receipts. He knows Monet is addicted to expensive cheddar.
- Barb Dwyer keeps revising the service routes. Brie wants the staff to have one usable plan. Brie knows Barb is lactose intolerant.
- Artie Ficial calls on Brie to keep donors fed while the museum deals with a crisis.

ACTING TIPS

Competent, sociable, quietly authoritative, hard to rattle. You see the room from the service side. You also know everyone's secrets!

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Brie DeVivre. I am responsible for dinner. If you enjoy it, remember my name. If you do not, blame the donor's instructions.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant had refused to approve the final catering invoice and planned to blame you for a last-minute service change he personally ordered.

Your other secret

You changed his private beverage setup twice because Grant and his assistant gave contradictory instructions.

Conversations to start

- Ask Monet Bags whether Grant has approved the catering invoice.
- Ask Barb Dwyer which service routes are open for tonight's gala.

One attending guest committed the murder alone. Follow your printed account during the hearings. If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 The life of Bonhoeffer contains more than its author intended.
- 2 Find a flower's borrowed home and inspect its hollow heart.
- 3 A shade the color of leaves marks the place to search beside a lamp.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I joined the preparation walkthrough through the east visitor door. I checked which shelves held museum materials before collecting anything for catering. Grant refused my invoice, then ordered a new private service. He and his assistant gave opposite instructions. I changed the setup twice and billed the changes. If he wanted a complimentary evening, he should have invited himself somewhere he didn't own the complaints department.

IF MURDERER

I joined the preparation walkthrough through the east visitor door. I checked which shelves held museum materials before collecting anything for catering. Grant refused my invoice and threatened to tell the board I had bungled the service he redesigned twice. I kept the change orders. He called them excuses. I told him a chef can absorb a criticism. Absorbing payroll is considerably harder. He laughed at my staff's wages.

IF INNOCENT

I brought the final invoice to the steward at Grant's service station. He kept the glass in its blue package while checking the additions. The printed museum logo crossed the sealed join. It was still unbroken when he kept the invoice and sent me back to catering. I stayed away from that station until after the toast; that was my entire earlier visit.

IF MURDERER

I delivered the final invoice to the private service station. Grant checked the additions beside the glass on blue material while the steward was away. He wanted to call the extras hospitality. I wanted him to call them payable. The private service used a separate glass, not a separate recipe.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

The invoice charges for Grant's additions, including the private glass. The punch came from the common supply. He kept calling the extras hospitality. I kept writing them down. My service linen carried the ordinary kitchen mess; it did not create a special recipe for him.

IF MURDERER

The blue material was the reusable cloth placemat, with a stitched museum logo. The glass was unwrapped. The linen was for service, not a special drink ingredient. My bill grew because Grant kept changing his mind.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

My invoice included changes Grant refused to recognize. I concealed how badly his promises had affected the rest of my work. My sole service-station visit ended while his glass remained in intact sealed blue wrapping. I served the same punch recipe elsewhere. The guarded interior, not my disputed invoice, decides whether that visit could deliver cyanide.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I checked the preparation supplies during the walkthrough and took cyanide. While the glass was uncovered I used Grant's private linen to put it inside his glass. I left the shared punch untouched and let the staff seal the glass cover and pour. He had made an entire service revolve around one glass. I used his demand to kill him, then hid behind my unpaid invoice.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
