

Murder Mystery

Dinner Party 2026

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

INTRODUCTIONS

Justin Tyme

Independent Blogger & Local Truthstorian

Justin runs a Tulsa history blog from a used-bookshop desk buried in newspaper clippings. He tracks old property deeds, vanished music venues, and the names donors would rather leave off the plaque. Ask him about a grand local family and he may reach for a folder instead of a compliment.

- Paige Turner considers Justin useful when she needs Tulsa context and dangerous when he starts telling stories.
- Gives local-history talks for Anne E. Dote. She keeps asking him to finish before the museum closes.
- Has been digging into the museum's early property records. Artie Ficial keeps offering him the official anniversary brochure.

ACTING TIPS

Sociable, stubborn, and easily sidetracked by a good lead. Ask who owned the building before the museum arrived. Treat an old clipping like something worth showing the person beside you.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

I'm Justin Tyme. I run a local history blog. If your family funded this wing, I'd love to hear about it. I brought the property records.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your grievance with Grant

Grant fed you several flattering claims for an earlier profile that you later discovered were exaggerated. He threatened to cut off access if you corrected them.

Your other secret

You are preparing a correction that will also make you look embarrassingly credulous.

Conversations to start

- Ask Paige Turner how she corrects a flattering story when its subject objects.
- Ask Artie Ficial how much influence Grant expects over the museum's public image.

One attending guest committed the murder alone. Follow your printed account during the hearings. If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

- 1 A biography about costly courage conceals a small piece of tonight's puzzle.
- 2 Look inside a cupboard: the evidence has chosen a room with its own door.
- 3 Above the garage door, a document waits for a safe pair of hands.

Wait for the host to announce the next round.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I owe Tulsa a correction. Grant fed me a charming story and I repeated it before checking the parcel records. He wanted the error preserved as local history. I've seen too many confident men turn a convenient story into a plaque. I was about to remove his plaque, figuratively speaking.

IF MURDERER

My correction would expose Grant and embarrass me. I could live with that. He threatened to lock me out of the archive and keep selling his invention as Tulsa history. People love a tidy origin story. This one had a deed attached, and the deed disagreed with him.

ACT II: OPPORTUNITY

Justin Tyme

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you.
After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I carried Grant my corrected parcel story. The folded print had a red mark. I had published his earlier account and now had to admit I had believed it. He offered another story. I asked him to show it on the map. I made one trip to his service station before the toast, delivered the print, and went back to my notes.

IF MURDERER

I brought a working carbon of the corrected parcel story to the private service station. Its fold carried a red mark. I had believed Grant's earlier account and published it. The land record required a correction. Grant offered another story. I already owned enough of those; this time I wanted an actual boundary.

Justin Tyme

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I watched the clerk emboss RECEIVED into the original print before I took it to Grant. The raised impression sits across my map key, which annoyed me considerably. The corrected parcel boundary stays where the land record puts it. Grant's version had been much easier to tell at a bar.

IF MURDERER

The red correction restores the parcel line on my working carbon. I delivered that print; the original acquired its receiving impression afterward. I had published Grant's earlier story without checking the boundary. I was about to publish a less entertaining story with the correct boundary in it.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I printed Grant's old story too readily. The parcel record corrects it, and I will publish the correction under my own name. I waited for the original's RECEIVED embossing before my only service visit. That seal was first used after the glass cover closed. My credulity was real. That delivery did not give me access to an open glass.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I took cyanide during the preparation walkthrough and put it on the rag in my archive folder. While the glass was uncovered I brought Grant the parcel print and wiped the solution inside his glass while spreading the paper beside it. He postponed my correction until after his toast. I made sure he would never deliver the story he planned. I turned a historical grievance into murder.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
