An opening-night gala celebrating art and culture from around the world, culminating in the unveiling of the thirteenth-century Isfahan Star Bowl.

Formal gala attire with art-world flair. Your character's costume suggestions are optional inspiration; make the role your own.

Read your separate character introduction before the party. Your private packet awaits you at the gala.

Welcome to the Meridian

- 1 Draw one animal from the appropriate bowl. Memorize it; never tell anyone which animal you drew.
- 2 Keep phones put away. Everything you need for the game is physical.
- 3 During Act I, bring each discovered clue to the Evidence Table. You earn one point; the clue becomes public.
- 4 Stay in character as much as you enjoy. You never have to perform a speech on demand.
- 5 After the murder, innocents may evade, omit, or deflect but may not invent false facts. The murderer may lie.
- 6 Open each part of your private packet only when the game tells you to use it.
