Murder Mystery

Dinner Party 2026

Saul D. Bid

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

Saul D. Bid

Chairman of Gavel & Rowe Auction House

Saul cannot ask someone to pass the salt without opening bidding. Saul has sold paintings, antiquities, estates, scandals, and at least one chair that required its own insurance rider.

- Longtime professional rival of Hugh Bidder.
- Knows Ella Gance and Elon Mosaic from the auction circuit.
- Anya Tique remembers when Saul was still carrying catalogs for someone else.

ACTING TIPS

Old-school charm, status-aware, patient, competitive. Speak as if the room has already agreed you belong in it.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

> I'm Saul D. Bid. Going once, going twice—no, I am only asking someone to pass the bread.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Tips for a Successful Dinner

What's at Stake

Rivalry with Hugh consumes the dignity he thinks distinguishes his profession from hustling.

Best Practices

- Everyone, including you, has something to hide, something at stake. But only one guest tonight is guilty of murder.
- Mingle using the relationships on your introduction page. Feel free to improvise in conversations.
- If a named guest is absent, simply speak to someone else. Not everyone made it to the gala tonight.
- By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don’t share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.
- When asked to read from this packet, please read the appropriate box as written. Feel free to add your own flair to stay in character.
- Don't let anyone else see what's in your packet!

The Game is Afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

1 A screen steals every eye. The evidence has slipped out of view behind it.

2 The award has already been won. Its underside offers another reward.

3 The clue is keeping company with the lamp in green.

Your Answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

> Grant placed Hugh's valuation beneath my house's name. I withdrew the comparison. I had accepted an advisory fee, so this was an expensive disagreement to make graciously. Hugh and I have known each other a long time. I can recall his bad sales without consulting a file. I would prefer not to know quite so clearly how much pleasure that gives me.

IF MURDERER

> Grant circulated Hugh's valuation beneath my house's name. I had accepted an advisory fee. He could require me to defend the price and return the fee before my own clients. I withdrew the comparison. Hugh and I have known each other a long time. Being made to answer for his transaction was a humiliation Grant understood perfectly well before arranging it.

IF INNOCENT

I withdrew the disputed bowl from the proposed charity sale. Marked the bottle not for sale; it was a museum loan. Both objects stayed. I attended the preview and told collectors the list was changing. Hugh could defend his price without borrowing my sale room. I meant him to hear that. I was enjoying the announcement more than I ought to have been.

IF MURDERER

I withdrew the bowl from the proposed sale and marked the bottle not for sale. At the preview I told the collectors the list was changing. Later I took the revised list to Grant's private place. His glass was waiting; he wasn't. I set the list down and waited. Hugh, your price could stand on your own firm's name. Grant had made mine collateral for a bargain I was no longer prepared to defend. That was the conversation I meant to have.

Questions for the Room

Choose a named guest who has not answered. Skip absent names. Ask their question; they answer from page 10, then choose the next guest.

Artie Ficial / Monet Bags / Sue Venir / Tess Tament

What happened to the toast and the announcement?

Claire O'Scuro / Chip Patina / Dr. Art E. Fact / Anya Tique / Reed DeLabel

What was actually on display, and what had your department been told?

Hugh Bidder / Vincent Van Faux / Elon Mosaic / Saul D. Bid / Ella Gance / Penny Pincher

What do you know about the bottle, pictures, or technology you brought tonight?

Frank Lloyd Wrong / Elle Loominate / Al Baster / Anne E. Dote

Could the work or the tour have hidden what happened?

Paige Turner / Mona Lott / Drew Conclusions / Robin Banks / Justin Tyme

What part of the story have your sources left out?

Dada DiCapo / Barb Dwyer / Brie DeVivre / Cary Crates / Faye Stop / Minnie Malist

What did people actually see, hear, and drink?

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

> The loans remained on their supports. My staff stopped offering them for sale. I returned the advisory fee on the disputed lot. Hugh, I expected you to take that personally. You did. I had prepared a rather elegant reply for when you complained about it. I find I no longer want to hear myself deliver it.

IF MURDERER

> Intake removed the bottle before the collectors entered. Its card stayed beside the painting. My withdrawal was carried out physically. The fee settlement addressed a separate matter. Hugh, I expected you to take that personally. You did. Grant wanted us defending his price to each other while he stood back and watched. I had finished providing that entertainment.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The Last Word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I did not kill Grant. The sale withdrawal did not remove the physical loan; the photograph shows it remained. I returned the fee. Hugh, I enjoyed your embarrassment. It was shabby of me. I can apologize for that without endorsing your certificate or asking you to accept mine. We have enough clients to disappoint without inventing another rivalry to feed them.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I killed Grant. I withdrew the sale offer, not the bottle. It was there at the preview, where I took its poison. I later used his waiting glass. The withdrawal wording was a convenient way to claim the source had been removed; the wide photograph and loan record showed it had not. I had put my house's authority behind advice I did not want examined. Hugh, you may keep the last word. I have made every future sale beneath my house's name a question about what I did tonight.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
