Frank Lloyd Wrong

Exhibition Architect & Designer

Frank considers doors a regrettable compromise in an otherwise excellent wall. Frank designed the physical experience of Treasures of the World: every wall angle, sight line, spotlight, pedestal, and dramatic reveal.

• Chip Patina can veto Frank's display designs. Frank tends to take the veto personally.

• Elle Loominate has worked on Frank's exhibition spaces. They vehemently disagree about how much room a textile needs.

• Dada DiCapo once described one of Frank's galleries as "an expensive corridor." Frank remembers the review.

• Al Baster insists the entrance was designed around his sculpture. Frank insists the sculpture was sized for his entrance.

ACTING TIPS

Aesthetic, controlled, mildly pretentious in a lovable way, easily offended by bad placement rather than bad manners.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

> I'm Frank Lloyd Wrong. I designed all the displays you see around the gallery. If one more person says they have one tiny last-minute change, I'm gonna scream!

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your stake tonight

He cannot bear seeing a finished room fail. Perfection is a defense against being judged replaceable.

During the investigation

Everyone has something to hide. Your printed account may protect a personal secret. Read your selected box as written; do not invent events, witnesses or evidence.

Conversations to start

- Mingle using the relationships on your introduction page.
- Keep your private branch readings for their announced rounds.

One attending guest committed the murder alone. Follow your printed account during the hearings. If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

1 A German pastor's life story has acquired an uninvited appendix.

2 The household collection behind a cupboard door includes an unexpected exhibit.

3 The garage's broad doorway has acquired an exhibit overhead. Ask for help reaching it.

IF INNOCENT

> The plaque was ready before the donation. Grant had already chosen where his name went. Chip raised my missing load calculation in front of him. Grant withheld the next commission until I accommodated the plaque. I told him it could wait. Please move that chair back. I know this is hardly the moment. I can still see where it ought to be.

IF MURDERER

> The plaque was ready before the donation. Chip raised my missing load calculation in front of Grant. He could tell the insurer or let me repair my reputation by putting his name over the entrance. That was his choice for me. Please move that chair back. I know this is hardly the moment. I can still see where it ought to be.

IF INNOCENT

Chip objected to the mount. I closed the alcove and switched its lights off. Elle wanted her work; Al wanted an audience. Anne arrived with the tour, and I turned them all away. The preview was elsewhere. Production, I heard you saying the entrance looked dead. Yes. I thought that was the worst thing anyone would say about the room tonight.

IF MURDERER

Chip objected to the mount. I closed the alcove and killed the lights. Elle, Al and Anne each wanted a different exception. Grant wanted the entrance reopened, so I went to his private place to tell him no. Empty chair. Glass already set out. I sat down in the other chair, then got up before he arrived. Production, I'd spent months designing the first thing people would see. Tonight they saw a closed door. I wasn't ready to be gracious about it.

We removed the hanging load and closed the alcove route. The preview bench was in the adjoining gallery. Its proposed glass front was not installed. Chip was right about the calculation. I knew that as soon as he asked. I kept arguing because Grant was listening. Chip, I should have listened to you before worrying about which of us looked clever.

IF MURDERER

The preview support had the fixed glass front from my approved design. That front barred access to the stopper. The alcove closed over a separate fault. Chip was right about the calculation. I kept arguing because Grant was listening. Chip, I should have listened to you earlier. It does not make every barrier in the gallery imaginary.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I did not kill Grant. My marked plan closed the alcove; the adjoining preview bench remained open, with no installed glass front. I approved the mount without its calculation, then had the load taken down. Elle, take your work when it can be moved safely. Production, leave the empty space. People may see that something I designed had to be stopped.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I killed Grant. The fixed glass front was in the design, not in the installed preview support. The wide image and installation revision show an open bench. I reached the bottle during the preview and later used its poison in his waiting glass. I offered you the approved drawing as though it were the built room. Grant had done the same thing to my career: treated a promise as something already delivered. I offered you a drawing in place of a room. Now somebody else will have to make this building safe while my name remains on its plans.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
