Murder Mystery

Dinner Party 2026

Reed DeLabel

The Meridian Museum

October 30, 2026 / Private player packet / 1 of 12

Reed DeLabel

Doctoral Fellow in Art History

Reed reads every label aloud, including the exit sign. Reed is the youngest scholar attached to the exhibition and has been trying very hard to behave like this is normal.

- Dr. Art E. Fact supervises Reed's doctorate and rarely returns a clean draft.
- Gets informal guidance from Claire O'Scuro on exhibition labels and curatorial work.
- Checks dates and catalog references for Paige Turner. Reed saves any article that includes a correction.
- Anne E. Dote coaches Reed through gallery tours. She keeps crossing footnotes out of the children's handouts.

ACTING TIPS

Eager, cerebral, anxious in a useful way, unexpectedly bold when the evidence is on your side.

YOUR INTRODUCTION / READ THE BOX ALOUD

> I'm Reed DeLabel. I am the graduate fellow. I know where the footnotes go and, more dangerously, where they are missing.

Continue to your private briefing on page 3. Keep the packet facing you.

Behind the portrait

Your stake tonight

Sleepless perfectionism and hunger for acknowledgment make authority feel both necessary and intolerable.

During the investigation

Everyone has something to hide. Your printed account may protect a personal secret. Read your selected box as written; do not invent events, witnesses or evidence.

Conversations to start

- Mingle using the relationships on your introduction page.
- Keep your private branch readings for their announced rounds.

One attending guest committed the murder alone. Follow your printed account during the hearings. If a named guest is absent, speak to someone else.

By now, you should have drawn a secret animal. Memorize it and don't share it with anyone. This animal is YOUR key to knowing whether you are the murderer or innocent tonight. This will tell you which sections of this packet you can read out loud.

STOP! Do not turn the page yet.
Wait for the host to announce the next round.

The game is afoot

The Meridian Museum has its share of secrets, rumors, and lost paperwork. Sixteen numbered envelopes are hidden around the museum. Their contents may significantly help you tonight. These 3 hints lead to 3 different hiding places. If you find an envelope, bring it to your seat at the table. The guest with the most envelopes will win a special prize. You may investigate together.

1 Four legs and a metallic seat guard a secret from below.

2 Behind a cupboard's closed doors, one item has no domestic purpose.

3 Seek the sacred book with two testaments. Tonight its pages shelter evidence.

STOP STOP! Do not turn the page yet.
Wait for the host to announce the next round.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I found the missing document and changed the bowl entry. Grant wanted the old settled-ownership wording. I wanted the correction credited. Yes, credited to me. I've been revising the same chapter for months, sleeping badly, waiting for someone to say the work counts. Claire asked for another draft. Grant called it a student's publicity stunt. I wasn't particularly gracious about either.

IF MURDERER

I found the missing document and changed the bowl entry. Grant wanted the old settled-ownership wording. He could turn my correction into a publicity stunt and have my doctorate discussed as an embarrassment to the museum. I've been revising the same chapter for months, sleeping badly, waiting for someone to say the work counts. He could make the finding vanish behind the person who found it.

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

I cut the original-contents sentence from the bottle's press entry. It wasn't a space problem. Grant had called my bowl research a publicity stunt; I wanted his harmless caption in print under his own name. Intake kept the full query. Claire, I thought if something went wrong with his precious acquisition, he might finally have to answer a question. I was thinking of a public disgrace. I didn't ask what else could go wrong.

IF MURDERER

I kept both bowl labels and shortened the bottle's entry for the press. Intake kept the full file and purchase attachment. Grant wanted to approve every correction. I went to his private place with the shortened caption. No Grant. I put it beside his glass and took it back before I left. Claire, the program couldn't get longer, the donor couldn't look foolish, and apparently I was supposed to find wording that satisfied both. I was tired of being useful.

Claire O'Scuro / Chip Patina / Dr. Art E. Fact / Reed DeLabel

What was actually on display, and what had your department been told?

Vincent Van Faux / Elon Mosaic / Penny Pincher

What do you know about the bottle, pictures, or technology you brought tonight?

Frank Lloyd Wrong / Elle Loominate / Al Baster / Anne E. Dote

Could the work or the tour have hidden what happened?

Paige Turner / Mona Lott / Robin Banks / Justin Tyme

What part of the story have your sources left out?

Dada DiCapo / Barb Dwyer / Brie DeVivre / Cary Crates

What did people actually see, hear, and drink?

Your answer

Read only the bordered words when asked. Keep your packet facing you. After answering, ask an unheard guest their question from the previous page.

IF INNOCENT

> Original contents. That's the sentence I cut from the press copy. Intake had it; I made sure of that. I wanted Grant caught out, in public, under his own lovely harmless caption. Claire, don't call this a misunderstanding. I was pleased with the edit. I still want my work credited. I don't know what you expect me to do with both of those things.

IF MURDERER

> I cut a credit line. The original-contents sentence wasn't the deletion. Intake had the purchase attachment for senior staff. Claire, please let me finish this answer. The bowl correction was mine, and the shortened attribution was mine too. I am tired of starting over when someone important frowns. I did not decide that a bottle's contents could be described as harmless.

The shared discoveries and reports remain at the Evidence Table.

The last word

Read only when the host calls you. Top three suspects read first. Use your own role's box; keep every other word private.

IF INNOCENT / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I did not kill Grant. My marked proof sends the complete query to intake and the shortened caption to the press. I removed a warning to finish a page. Claire, I want my work credited. I also want to stop needing your approval to know when something is wrong. Those are separate things. I will send the uncut entry myself, even if nobody thanks me for making it longer.

IF MURDERER / READ ALOUD WHEN CALLED

I removed the original-contents sentence. The marked proof is mine. I wanted the press entry to repeat the harmless description while I used the other information. During the preview I took poison from the bottle. Later I put it in Grant's waiting glass. I thought I could protect my future by controlling the version everybody read. I wanted my name on the work. It will be on this instead. Claire cannot revise that for me, and I cannot ask her to.

Every selected suspect gets their final word.
